VETERINARY TECHNICIAN SELF CARE TECHNIQUES WITH JESSICA FYNBOH, PMHNP-BC

I will be presenting easy, at home self-care techniques that can reduce anxiety as well as suicide prevention and awareness. During this presentation the participant can expect to learn about easy self-care techniques to help reduce stress and anxiety, sleep hygiene practices as well as resources for suicide prevention and awareness. A recent study published in 2019 found that suicide risk in veterinary technicians is much higher than in the general population. Easy home self-care techniques as well as suicide awareness would hopefully help to alleviate some of this mental health burden in the veterinary field
